Unsurpassed substance searching

With REGISTRY, STN provides the world's most authoritative collection of disclosed substance information, principally from patents and journals, as well as other reliable sources such as chemical catalogs, substance inventories, and collections on the web. In addition, STN provides access to other key substance databases, including CASREACT[®], GENESEQ[™] (DGENE), GenBank[®], MARPAT[®], REAXYSFILE, and the Derwent Chemistry Resource of the Derwent World Patents Index[®] – making STN the most comprehensive source for substance information.

To support substance content, STN also provides the most robust substance searching capabilities available, including structure, property, sequence, and chemical name searching. When you find your substance of interest, STN also allows you to easily locate related references in the literature.

A world of patent information

To support your organization's intellectual property needs, STN provides easy access to information about legal status, patent assignees, patent claims, patent families, and technical disclosures. STN is the only platform that offers the ability to search CAplus, INPADOC (INPADOCDB), and Derwent World Patents Index – key databases for determining patentability, state-of-the-art, infringement, and the legal status of patents – at one time.

STN also provides full-text patent databases from the European Patent Office (EPFULL), United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPATFULL), World Intellectual Property Organization (PCTFULL), and more.
